

2011 CORNELL-GLADSTONE- HANLON-KAUFMANN

LECTURE IN ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION AND COMMUNICATION

JOHN S. BARRIE

How to Lift a Pyramid- Inspiring Innovation for the Poor

John Barrie is an Architect and Industrial Designer and the Executive Director of the Appropriate Technology Collaborative, an award winning nonprofit company that designs low cost life enhancing technologies for low income people throughout the world. He is currently working with "World Challenge Design Teams" - groups of engineering, design and business students from colleges and universities across the United States to develop new technologies for low income people in the developing world.

Thursday
October 6, 2011
8:00 pm
Hunt Union
Ballroom

This lecture is free and open to the public thanks to gifts from Virginia '44 and William Kaufmann to the College at Oneonta Foundation.

Ample parking at the Hunt College Union.

Questions: (607) 436-2535

SUNY
ONEONTA