

The Class of 2006

Alumni Profile

The Class of 2006 has left a legacy for all time!

Thanks to the efforts of the 22-member campaign committee, with the support of the Class of 2006 President Katie Greene, the Executive Board, and many others, the Oneonta campus now has a clock tower. The Class of 2006 Clock Tower is prominently located on the green between the Human Ecology and Physical Science buildings.

In addition to the 628 members of the class that participated, the Senior Class Gift Campaign received 81 gifts from parents of graduates; 181 from faculty, staff, and students from other classes; $1,000 from OAS in honor of graduating students who served on their board; $2,006 from the Alumni Association; and $3,000 donated by the Class of 2006 from its treasury. Overall, the class raised $14,089.68! We're proud of their generosity and their commitment to the College.

Members of the class who made a gift to the Senior Class Gift Campaign received College seal pins to wear on their gowns at Commencement, and they were recognized and asked to stand during the Commencement ceremony. With 45% of the Class of 2006 participating, it was a proud moment for our College.

The results of the Class of 2006 Campaign are a great illustration of the power of philanthropy and alumni participation! The participation rate of the graduating class has become a critical component of our overall alumni percent participation goals each year. The Class of 2006 got an early start and hosted several new events throughout the year including the "100 days" and "50 days" until Commencement celebrations and an elegant Alumni Eve Reception which was attended by nearly 500 members of the class and their families!

The College is happy to include the gift from the Class of 2006 among the gifts received during our comprehensive Campaign, Changing Lives Since 1889. An official dedication ceremony for the Class of 2006 Clock Tower will take place during Homecoming and Family Weekend on October 13-15, 2006. We salute the Class of 2006 for doing such a great job, and we offer best wishes to our newest alumni.
