The enterprising spirit of the Chilean people has been remarked upon for more than a hundred years, and the modern metropolis and capital city, Santiago, is a testament to this quality.

A booming center and gateway to the region—and the world—Santiago exemplifies the county’s export-driven economy, which boasts the highest GDP in Latin America built on the selling of metals and minerals, fish, produce, and wines to the world’s top markets. It’s no wonder Santiago’s financial district has been called “Sanhattan.”

In this welcoming, politically stable, and increasingly affluent country, students can find a challenging—yet rewarding—internship experience, while building their Spanish language skills.

Students interning in Santiago are placed with companies ranging from innovative start-ups to global organizations, multinationals, and NGOs in a variety of industry sectors. Sample internship placements may include:

“Santiago, wedged between the snowy Andes and the sea, has become an electrifying place of vibrant contrasts, with lush new parks, renovated Beaux-Arts neighborhoods, and blocks of glamazon-thronged galleries and cafes clustered around ‘Sanhattan,’ the soaring financial district.”
