

Editing the Courses Component

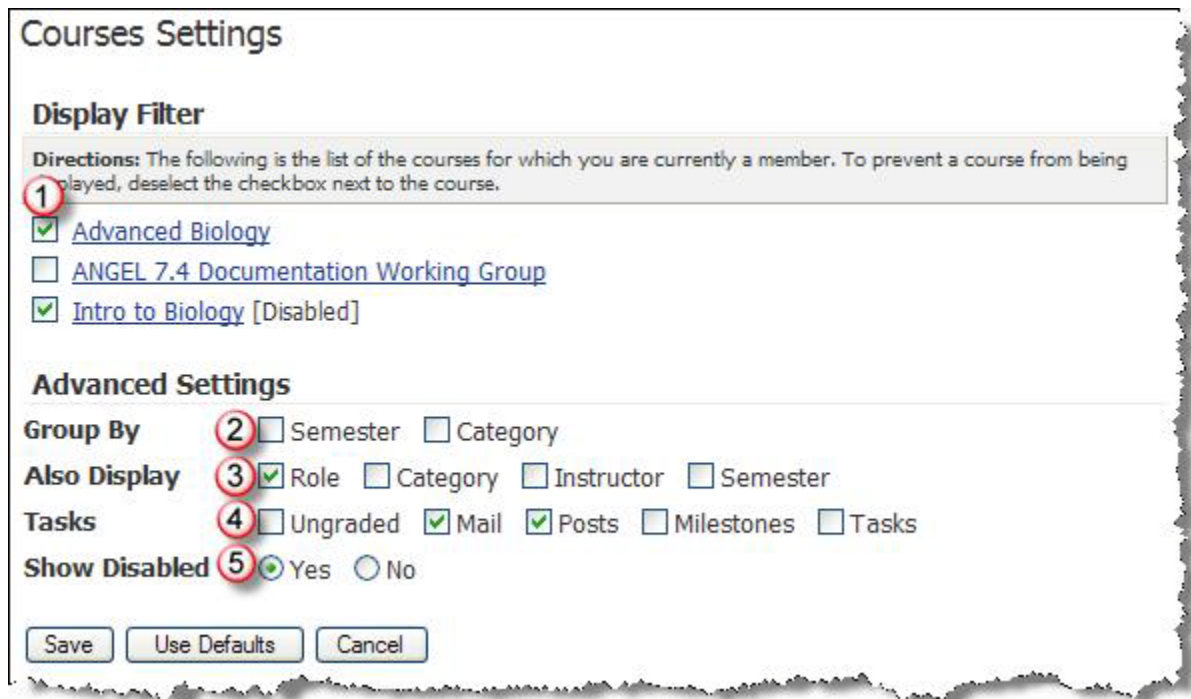

You can edit the contents of the Courses component, choose to display disabled courses, or select which courses you want to display on the ANGEL Home page.

To edit the Courses component:

1. Click the Edit button () that appears in the title bar when you hover the mouse over the Courses component.

The following figure shows the Courses Settings options.

The elements of the Courses Settings include the following:

1. Display Filter. Select the courses you want to appear in your Courses component.

2. Group By. By default, courses are displayed in alphabetical order. You can also choose to organize courses by semester and/or category.
3. Also Display. Controls which additional data elements are displayed under the course title within the Courses component.
4. Tasks. Controls which task icons and data are displayed under the course title within the Courses component.
5. Show Disabled. Determines whether disabled courses are displayed in the Display Filter section. If enabled, disabled courses in which you have access rights will appear in the list of courses, where you can choose to have them displayed in the Courses component.
