

NOTE OF THANKS

Once more, I come to the most pleasant part of this project, thanking those who have made another issue of Educational Change possible. Special thanks go to Barbara Paugh, Manager of Publications at SUNY Oneonta, and Su Hartley of the same department. Both have been most helpful and gracious, and as always made my task far less difficult than it could have been. Wayne Byam, the Supervisor of the Print Shop, has guaranteed excellent results under a very busy schedule.

Professors Jane Fowler Morse of SUNY Geneseo, Jeffrey McLaughlin of SUNY Oneonta, and Douglas Shrader of SUNY Oneonta have provided incisive and penetrating criticisms; and I am most grateful to them. Again I thank all the members of the Philosophy Department at SUNY Oneonta, as well as the members of the N.Y.S.F.E.A. for their encouragement, their support and the trust they placed in me. Marge Holling, secretary of the Philosophy Department, as always, has provided excellent clerical and secretarial support.

In addition, I am most grateful to Professors Jane Fowler Morse, Anthony M. Cinquemani, Richard Glotzer, Michael Green and Douglas Shrader for helping initiate the journal's new feature, "Notes and Comments." Again, thanks are due to Dr. Alan Donovan, President of SUNY Oneonta, for the encouragement he has provided for this project.
